The Grocery Store System

Sophia Giovannone

The grocery store system has

- A GUI login page for employees to enter their employee's name and password.
- Then from the protected page, it will bring you to a new window to add/search for product names/ product ID.
- This will allow employees to track inventory, add products, add product IDs.

I then want to continue expanding the features of this app, by adding count to count the number of products each product has within the inventory.

It will be beneficial for small grocery stores to manage their inventory.
